OPPOSED TO ALL NATION'S TREATY.

German Delegate Favors Obligatory Arbitration.

Delivers Noteworthy Speech Before Committee at Hague.

THE HAGUE, Oct. 5.—Baron Marschall von Bieberstein (Germany) delivered a noteworthy speech today before the arbitration committee, during which he announced himself in favor of obligatory arbitration, but opposed to a treaty including all the nations of the world.

The baron said that the general feeling is that the conference, having dealt with the question of war, must do something for peace. He favors individual treaties between nations in preference to a treaty including the whole world, which it was proposed should apply to judicial and not to political matters, which it would be impossible to separate, as what might be a judical question in one country might be a political question in another? A general arbitration treaty the baron said, instead of regulating into international litigation, would create new difficulties.

BALLOON UNDER FULL CONTROL

British Army Thinks It Has Solved Aerial Navigation Problem.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—That the British army has solved the problem of aerial navigation was proved to the satisfaction of Londoners today, when the dirigible war balloon, which has been given several trials at Aldershot camp, sailed from Farnborough, 30 miles southwest of here, to London, and after maneuvering over the city, started back to its headquarters. The balloon went round Trafalgar square, over the new War Office, and past Westminster Abbey and the House of Parliament, traveling at the rate of about 15 miles an hour, and being under complete control.

The appearance of the balloon was a great surprise, as it was announced that changes in her construction were found necessary after the last trial. The British military balloon is named Mulli Seemadis, and has a lifting capacity of about one ton, which after deducting the weight of the apparatus, permits carrying a crew of three men of average weight. The engines are so built that exhaust vaper is turned into gas and is carried up into the balloon above by means of a tube.

The balloon is understood to contain new developments in aerial navigation, which will put Great Britain well ahead of all other powers in the matter of dirigible balloons, the British invention being said to be able to deliver considerable gun fire.

PRESIDENT'S BOAT VEERED.

Roosevelt Thrown Against Stateroom Wall in Steamer Accident.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 5.—According to a special despatch received last night from Cairo, Ill., the incident which resulted in President Roosevelt requesting the suspension of the officer in charge of steamer Hartwog occurred a short distance below that city Thursday. When the boats composing the flotilla escorting the President left Cairo, the despatch states, steamer Alton, carrying the St. Louis delegation, had the position immediately following the Mississippi, with President Roosevelt on board. The Hartwog, while endeavoring to wrest this position from the Alton, bumped into the President's boat with great force, causing it to veer and roughly jar those on board, the President being thrown against the wall of his stateroom with considerable force. But for the action of the pilot on board the Mississippi, the despatch adds, in endeavoring to get out of the path of the Hartwog, a serious accident might have resulted.

PLENTY OF GAME.

Fresh Bear Track About Roosevelt's Camp and Two Bucks Shot.

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Oct. 5.—Game in abundance and fresh bear tracks all about the camp are the prospects awaiting President Roosevelt when he leaves this place today and pitches into the Louisiana canebrakes for his hunting trip. Two hunters who were charged with the duties of supplying fresh meat to be in readiness for the President's arrival at the camp yesterday shot two bucks not far from where the President's tent is pitched.

Instead of going by train, as originally planned, to Alsatia, La., which is within about five miles of the camp, the President is now scheduled to leave the train at Stampual, La., and to make the rest of his journey on horseback—a distance of 15 miles. Lake Providence is crowded with visitors to welcome the President today.

ROOSEVELT DELIVERS SPEECH.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5.—A long distance telephone message to the Associated Press from Lake Providence, La., says that President Roosevelt and his party arrived there this morning and that a large crowd met him at the railroad station. The President delivered a speech.

TOKIO, Oct. 5.—A terrible explosion occurred today at the Takatsuki factory, Osaka, while a number of girls were at work sorting shells and cartridges which had been condemned. Fifty-three of the girls were killed and over 60 were injured. As this despatch was sent the factory was on fire and a number of boats containing explosives were also burning.

BOTH WHITNEY AND BARTLETT NAMED

Massachusetts Democrats Hold Two Conventions.

Double Tickets Nominated Amid Incessant Din.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 5.—With two state conventions in session at the same time in the same hall, each nominating a set of candidates for the state offices from governor down, it is very probable that the proceedings of the Democratic state convention held here today in the Court Square Theatre will require a decision of the Massachusetts ballot law commission on the question as to whether General Charles W. Bartlett of Newton or Henry M. Whitney of Boston will head the Democratic state ticket at the November election.

For several hours today there was pandemonium in the theatre, and a spectacle such as probably never before marked a political gathering in the state of Massachusetts. The storm broke as Chairman John P. Feeney of the state committee, having finished reading the call, asked for nominations for temporary officers. Joseph A. Conry and Daniel J. Kiley of Boston were both nominated from the floor, and Chairman Feeney entertained both motions and declared that the convention had selected Mr. Kiley, who at once appeared at the desk in front of the stage.

Mr. Conry, who was in a box, leaped to his feet, and both officers began to fill their duties at the same time—Mr. Kiley from the stage and Mr. Conry from the stage box. The Whitney delegates, who numbered about 100, in a few moments flocked to the rear of the theatre, leaving about 300 Bartlett delegates in possession of the orchestra chairs near the stage. The Whitney program was rushed through, with Mr. Conry presiding officer, in the foyer of the theatre, and Mr. Whitney was declared the nominee of the party for governor. The balance of the Whitney ticket was filled as follows:

Lieutenant Governor—George A. Schofield of Ipswich.

Secretary of State—O. Z. E. Charester of Holyoke.

Treasurer and Receiver General—Daniel D. Doherty of Westfield.

Auditor—Joseph A. Conry of Boston.

Attorney General—James L. Doherty of Springfield.

Resolutions were presented by Josiah Quincy and adopted as the platform.

At the same time H. F. Bartlett convention was proceeding less hurriedly, the hall resounding with shouts so that little could be heard. General Bartlett was declared the nominee and John A. Thayer of Worcester was given second place on the ticket. It was decided that the balance of the Bartlett ticket should be made up by the officials of the convention. The platform was then read by George Fred Williams and adopted.

General Bartlett accepted in a brief speech, following which the tumult was kept up for a time, but eventually the delegates became tired of the incessant din and ceased to make a demonstration. For a time the Bartlett men held the hall, as it was feared the Whitney delegates would take possession and open a new convention if they left. After a time the state committee reported the balance of the Bartlett ticket as follows.

Secretary of State—C. Z. E. Charester of Holyoke.

Treasurer and Receiver General—William P. Connery of Lynn.

Auditor—Daniel L. Shea of Chicopee.

Attorney General—Harvey H. Pratt of Abington.

John R. Thayer, nominee for lieutenant governor, declined to accept.

The Whitney forces furnished the most interest of the convention by reassembling and reading the minutes of their session, approving them and making a formal demand of the state committee for all credentials. The Whitney delegates then withdrew, and at 2:25 o'clock the Bartlett forces finally adjourned the convention.

The supporters of Mr. Whitney claim that the Bartlett convention is illegal, on the ground that a large number of Whitney delegates were either refused admittance to the convention hall or their credentials held up until the theatre had been packed. The burden of proof before the ballot law commission, it is thought, will fall upon the Whitney faction.

After the convention adjourned it was announced that Mr. Schofield had reconsidered his decision, and would permit his name to stand as a candidate for lieutenant governor on the Bartlett ticket.

The departure of the delegates from the hall was not attended by any particular demonstration, although there was considerable loud talking. The Whitney delegates proceeded at once to their hotel where they were addressed by Mr. Whitney. He said that he would be the candidate of the delegates to the end, and declared that all

GOVERNOR GUILD IS RE-NOMINATED.

Full State Ticket of Massachusetts Republicans.

Committees Named and Platform Adopted in Harmony.

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—It required exactly two hours and 12 minutes for the state convention of Massachusetts Republicans to appoint committees, adopt a platform and nominate the entire state ticket today. The convention had only one feature, namely, the perfect harmony which prevailed and the ease and rapidity with which the program arranged by the Republican state committee was carried through.

The convention as a whole was lacking in enthusiasm, and only 1,242 of the more than 1,700 delegates entitled to seats were present. The only things that approached enthusiasm were the ovations given to Senator Lodge, the permanent chairman of the convention; former Governor John L. Bates, Governor Curtis Guild, Jr., and Lieutenant Governor Eben S. Draper, the two last being renominated. The ticket follows:

Governor—Curtis Guild, Jr., of Boston.

Lieutenant Governor—Eben S. Draper of Hopedale.

Secretary of State—William M. Olin of Boston.

Treasurer and Receiver General—Arthur B. Chapin of Holyoke.

Auditor—Henry E. Turner of Malden.

Attorney General—Dana Malone of Greenfield.

The delegates seemed to manifest as much interest in the reports from the Democratic convention in Springfield as they did in the proceedings of their own convention.

This Morning's News.

PRESENT POLICY MUST ENDURE.

Roosevelt Says His Course is Necessary to Nation's Welfare.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 4.—In the strongest speech he has made on his present trip President Roosevelt today declared his hope that the policies he is pursuing will be accepted by the country as permanent, without regard to any possible political changes. He insisted that such questions as the upbuilding and maintenance of the navy, the completion of the Panama canal and the improvement of the Mississippi river are not party questions, and declared that he is striving to accomplish what he can in such matters because the welfare of the nation imperiously demands the action he is taking.

One hundred thousand citizens of Memphis and vicinity today welcomed President Roosevelt to the deep waterways convention. The enthusiasm of the greeting was worthy of the great South and the President of the republic. President Roosevelt was profoundly impressed with the magnitude of the demonstration. He said as much in words and more in actions, for he made no effort to conceal his pleasure.

From the time steamboat Mississippi, bearing the distinguished guest, came in sight of the city until the President had concluded his address before the waterways convention, he received a continual ovation. His route to and from the auditorium was through an ocean of human faces, and the vast throng stretched out into the side streets as far as the eye could see. The landing was at the foot of Dudley avenue, from which point the procession made its way through Jefferson avenue, Main street, Beale avenue and other leading thoroughfares to the auditorium.

The President and party arrived in the harbor of Memphis at 12:50 p. m. and immediately landed amid the screeching of whistles and the cheers of thousands of people on the river front. The rain of the early morning had ceased and the parade immediately formed and the march to the hall was given a cordial reception from the assembled crowd.

All idea of confining the delighted people to the curbstones was abandoned before the Presidential party landed, and as it proceeded through the streets in carriages, escorted by the most imposing parade ever seen in this city, the acclaiming multitude touched the very wheels of the vehicles and good-naturedly elbowed for room in which to raise and wave flags and other emblems of a national nature. The picturesqueness of the scene was enhanced by the thousands of flags, banners and other decorative designs which lined the route of travel.

Arriving at the Auditorium the President found awaiting him there an assemblage such as has seldom been seen before in this part of the country. In every sense of the word the gathering was truly representative of all of those states which are directly or indirectly interested in the project of a deep waterway from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico. Included among those present were the governors of a score of commonwealths, almost a sufficient number of members of congress to constitute a quorum and hundreds of bankers, manufacturers, transportation officials and other representatives of the business interests of the Middle West and South. The great auditorium, spacious though it is, was taxed to accommodate the crowd which sought admittance.

President Roosevelt departed from his prepared speech in several instances. Speaking of the Confederate guard of honor, he said it was a touching sight to see those old Confederate soldiers carrying the flag of the stars on union. If any one wanted to know how they would fight for that flag let him ask theboys in blue how the boys in gray fought against it. He said with emphasis that he was as much the President of the South as of the North and was devoted to the South's interests. He said he was half a Southerner; and when he told of two or three of his uncles having worn the gray he was frenetically applauded.

ROOSEVELT SUSPENDS LICENSE.

Orders Summary Punishment of Steamer Fred Hartweg's Captain.

EVANSVILLE, Ind. Oct. 4.—United States inspector of Hulls Williams this afternoon received a telegram signed by President Roosevelt directing that the license for steamer Fred Hartweg, which carried the Pittsburg delegation to Memphis, be immediately suspended. The telegram, which is dated on board the Mississippi, follows:

"I direct that the license of the master, or whoever is responsible for the Fred Hartweg during the present voyage be suspended at once for ten days. I wish this done by telegraph wherever the boat may be if such procedure is possible. Colonel Sears can give you details of the misconduct, which has been of serious nature, and might have at any time cost a number of people to their lives as well as to other boats."

The Steamer Fred Hartweg's home port is Cairo, and it is inspected at Evansville.

Inspector Williams issued telegraphic orders tonight ordering the suspension of the license of the captain of steamer Fred Hartweg for 10 days, in accordance with the request of President Roosevelt. The offense charged against the captain of the Fred Hartweg was racing with steamer Alton, thereby endangering the Mississippi, on which President Roosevelt was traveling. The Fred Hartweg and the Alton accompanied the Mississippi on its trip down the river to Memphis.

SELECTS NEW ROUTE TO POLE.

Dr. Frederick Cook Will Go Through Nansen Strait Over Polar Sea.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The following message, dated Etah, August 25, 1907, was received in this city today by Herbert L. Bridgman from Dr. Frederick A. Cook of New York, the explorer:

"I have hit upon a new route to the North Pole and will stay to try it. The way of Buchanan bay and Ellesmere Land and northward through Nansen strait over the Polar sea seems to me to be a very good route. There will be game to the eighty-second degree and there are natives and dogs for the trail. So, here is for the pole. Mr. Bradley will tell you the rest."

Dr. Cook, accompanied by John R. Bradley, Captain Thomas Bartlett and a number of Esquimaux, left North Sydney, N. S., early in July on American auxiliary schooner yacht Jeanie Bradley, which headed the party at Smith's sound. Mr. Bradley returned to North Sydney on the yacht October 1. The expedition is provisioned for two years and is wintering 70 miles farther north than Peary did two years ago.

STEAMERS TO HAVE THEATRES.

It is announced that the Cunard Steamship Company has accepted the offer of Charles Frohman to give theatrical performances on the big liners by regular players, who for the time being may be traveling to and from the United States and England. The company is now planning specially designed halls for plays and concerts on board three of the ships of the line. Other trans-Atlantic line companies are considering Mr. Frohman's proposition.

NO NEW DEVELOPMENTS.

Matter of Lipton Challenge Dropped by New York Club—No Action Taken on Swedish Inquiry.

Anticipating something further from the Royal Irish Yacht Club, regarding the Sir Thomas Lipton challenge or additional news of the contemplated challenge of the Royal Swedish Yacht Club, there were 30 or more boat owners and a large number of other members at the fifth regular meeting of the New York Yacht Club.

The large gathering was disappointed. The secretary read the cablegram received from Mrs R. C. McM. Smythe, secretary of the Royal Irish Yacht Club, and the letter of Sir Thomas, notifying that club that he would abandon his America's cup challenge, and there were no comments upon either. This means that the challenge of the Royal Irish Yacht Club is no longer considered a matter of interest to the New York Yacht Club and it is not believed anything additional will be heard from the parties concerned.

The secretary also read the cable inquiry of Admiral Hagg, of the Royal Swedish Yacht Club, whether the New York Yacht Club would consider a challenge from the club for the cup, and this was also heard without comment.

Challenge matters, therefore, that were new and interesting did not materialize at the meeting, and the session in consequence was brief. The regular reports were read, 22 members, regular and naval, elected, and a nominating committee of five yacht owners and five non-yacht owners, as required by the constitution, was elected.

Under miscellaneous business a committee was appointed to consider and report at some future meeting upon the advisability of arranging a system of handicapping for boats outside of the regular classes which have been built and have had no regular competitors for some time. This committee is composed of Mr. W. Butler Duncan, Jr., Mr. Charles Lane Poor, Mr. Harry L. Maxwell, the regatta committee and the secretary of the club.

Possibly some system may be agreed upon by the committee which will bring together several boats under the proposed handicap class which have not had a chance of doing much racing of late, and thus add to the interest of club's future regattas. The handicap divisions of the smaller boats on Long Island Sound have been very successful, and in some instances were the more important part of the racing due to of some of the clubs during the late season.

NAVAL NOTES.

Battleships New Jersey and Rhode Island have been finally accepted by the Navy Department. They were built by the Fore River Shipbuilding Company and have been in commission some months.

New ash ejectors are to be installed on the Georgia at the Mare Island navy yard. Repairs have been ordered to steam engineering on the St. Louis at Mare Island, on the Minneapolis in ordinary at New York, on the Missouri in ordinary, and in ordinary on the West Virginia at Mare Island.

Rear Admiral H. W. Lyon, commandant of Mare Island navy yard, is to be relieved from duty October 12, and after one month's leave will be placed on the retired list, being 62 years old. The new commandant of the Mare Island yard will be Captain W. S. Pierce.

Master Mechanic J. S. Van Sicklen has been sent by the bureau of ordnance from the Washington gun factory to the Puget Sound navy yard to install gun sights on battleships Nebraska and Colorado. Some new 12-inch guns are being installed on the Colorado, while the Nebraska has not yet been finally accepted by the government.

Terms of appointment of the chiefs of two of the bureaus of the Navy Department will expire November 16. They are those of Washington L. Capps, chief of the bureau of construction and repair, and Charles W. Rae, engineer-in-chief of the bureau of steam engineering. It is understood at the department that steps have already been taken looking toward the reappointment of Rae and that Capps will also be reappointed. The term of appointment is four years.

So great is the breath of time consumed in communication with the Philippine islands that two bureau officers of ordnance of the Navy Department have decided to establish there a chemical laboratory for the examination and testing of powder. The tests have previously been made at Indian Head. Lieutenant Commander C. M. McCormick has been detailed to take charge of the laboratory and will be assisted by George Ricker, chemist, whose appointment to the place was made after a competitive examination. There were four candidates for the appointment, which pays $2,000 a year. Lieutenant Commander McCormick and Ricker will sail from the United States on the transport leaving San Francisco December 5.

PUNCTILIOUS.

[Success.]

A French schooner went ashore at one of the fashionable resorts. When day dawned she was plainly in sight from the beach, the waves breaking over her decks, and the crew clinging to the shrouds. The summer residents flocked to the water's edge, where a life-saving crew was working.

"Mercy, man, why don't you all do something—try to save those poor men? I wonder what they are—" an excited woman stopped, catching a frenzied countenance by the arm.

"We are doing all we can, madam," was the hurried reply. "They are French. We have just sent them a line to come ashore."

The lady turned to a friend with a look of admiration in her eyes.

"Just think of that, Mary," she said. "And isn't it just like these perfectly polite Frenchmen? That man said they had just sent them a line to come ashore. You see, they wouldn't come, though they were about to be drowned, without a formal invitation."

The Value of Pure Starch
Do your starched garments "go to pieces" more quickly than those not starched? Consider the starch you are using. Is it one in which harmful elements are lurking to ruin the fabrics upon which it is constantly used? Make your clothes last longer by using
DURYEAS' Gloss Starch
It is free from every injurious property and cannot injure the texture or color of any fabric.
Produces that satiny finish of great pliability so much desired by discriminating laundresses, at the same time leaving the body and firmness that are essential to perfect work. Economical because it goes further—yet it costs no more. Sold by all grocers in full-weight packages.
BEST FOR ALL KINDS OF STARCHING.
For general use boil as directed. For light starching unequaled as a cold water starch, requiring no boiling.

PRINCIPLES OF THE PARTY.

Heartily Endorsed by Massachusetts Republicans.

Platform at the Annual Convention Deals With National and State Issues.

The following is the platform presented at the Massachusetts Republican state convention in Boston today:

We, the Republicans of Massachusetts, in convention assembled, today place in nomination our candidates for every office upon the state ticket to be voted for at the ensuing November election. All have been faithful public servants, who have wisely and efficiently performed the respective duties which have developed upon them.

Since the organization of the Republican party, in 1854, that party has had a working majority in both branches of the state legislature, excepting in 1893, when the senate contained an equal number of Republicans and Democrats. We point with pride to the legislation enacted in this commonwealth during the last 53 years, for which the Republican party is responsible, and by reason of which it is entitled to support and approval.

There are no national officers to be voted for this autumn, and this is therefore a state election; but, owing to the fact that a presidential convention will occur before the next state convention assembles, a reference to national affairs is fully justified.

We heartily commend the administration of President Roosevelt, it has been progressive, courageous and effective; it has protected the welfare of the whole people, and has enforced the laws and compelled their observance by all persons, rich and poor, high and low, alike.

The Republican party of Massachusetts reaffirms its belief in the principles of protection to American industries and American labor, under which the United States has prospered and developed, both in foreign and domestic trade, during the last ten years to a greater extent than in any similar period in the nation's life. Massachusetts has never in its history enjoyed employment for its mechanics, laborers and artisans more continuously than since the inauguration of the late President McKinley. The product of its industries exceeds that of any previous similar period. Industrial depressions have been unknown, and today the wage earners are enjoying the highest rate of wages ever in existence; the hours of employment are less, and the demand for the products of Massachusetts was never greater.

The Democratic party not only did not propose any treaties of reciprocity during the two terms that they had possession of the Presidential office, but in 1893 they repealed all reciprocity treaties which had been fixed by the Republicans. The only propositions for reciprocity have originated with the Republican party, and it is to our party that the country will look with confidence for such treaties in the future.

The national Republican convention in 1908 will be called upon to present a platform defining the issues of the Presidential election. A majority of the Republican members of the Massachusetts delegation in Congress in January, 1905, declared in favor of the consideration of the question of the revision of the existing tariff, in accordance with the principles of protection, at the earliest practicable time. We commend for adoption by the next national Republican convention a resolution calling the Congress to meet in special session, to determine upon amendments to the present tariff law, or the enactment of a new measure to meet changed conditions, to remove duties needless either for revenue or protection, and make such modifications as experience may have shown to be necessary.

The national government has made liberal appropriation for the improvement of the harbors at Boston and other commercial ports of the commonwealth. In order that advantage may accrue to the state by reason thereof, the questions of transportation by rail and water become among the most important of any that will confront us in the future.

The Republican party, true to its tradition, deprecates any effort which seeks to destroy the high ideals which have been its glory and strength. We condemn any prejudice which deprives any person whatsoever of his rights under the constitution, and especially do we condemn any spirit of discrimination in public places within our borders. The Republican party has kept alive the spirit of equality and of opportunity, and earnestly calls upon our public officials for enforcement of all laws, to the end that justice shall be accorded every person, regardless of race, color or creed.

We urge the Congress to give further consideration to the subject of the re-establishment of the merchant marine. Massachusetts was among the foremost in the maintenance of foreign commerce in the earlier periods of the nation's history. This country, with a protected coastwise commerce and a coast line unparalleled in extent and importance, ought to be a strong competitor for the commerce of the world. For the carrying of our mails we are now dependent upon the service afforded by steamers of other nations, and our country thereby helps them to maintain efficient agencies for the extension of their foreign trade, to the exclusion our own.

President Roosevelt by special message to Congress, placed before them for consideration the importance of the improvement of our foreign merchant marine service. Bills were passed by both the Senate and House, but no law was enacted, because of disagreement between the two branches of Congress.

The city of Boston is the principal municipality of the common wealth, and its greatest business and commerce centre. To the many interests affecting the welfare of all the citizens, and comprising the principal import and export trade of the state, careful, honest and prudent management of the city municipal affairs is absolutely essential. The city obtained its municipal charter from the general court of the common-wealth. It is the duty of the general court to support the excellent work of the finance commission, and further to safeguard the interest of the citizens of the city and state as further investigation may demonstrate to be necessary.

The Boston & Albany accommodations for passengers and freight are defective. We therefore commend the action of the governor in urging the necessity of more new tracks across the commonwealth, to relieve the congestion of traffic on that road. We also commend the action of the railroad committee in demanding the New York Central railroad to show cause at once why the service of the Boston & Albany railroad should not be improved. We endorse the reference by the governor of the whole question of better transportation for Massachusetts to the commission on commerce and industry, for immediate investigation and report.

A Republican governor and a Republican legislature have prevented this year the merging of steam railroads without the permission of the commonwealth, and without the agreement of further safeguards securing the public in their rights and privileges. They have referred the matter to the railroad commission for their consideration and report. Such union, however, if made, must be made openly, and only with the permission of the commonwealth, as established by statute.

We heartily endorse the administration of the commonwealth. In the last two years corporations have been forbidden to contribute to campaign funds; the bucket shops have been driven from the state; the savings bank system of Massachusetts and the committee controlling it have been reorganized and strengthened; the police and excise system of Boston, the Massachusetts volunteer militia, the gas and electric light committee, the bureau of statistics of labor, the state forestry department, the management of the Rutland Sanatorium for Consumptives and that of the Foxboro Hospital for Inebriates have all been re-organized. Free state employment bureaus aid in transforming the unemployed into self-supporting citizens.

The commonwealth has become the leader among the states in providing new statutes for medical inspection of the children in the public schools of every city and town. It is also a leader in the new system of health inspection, in fighting disease in factories and pollutions of food and water supplies. A pathway has been blazed for industrial education. The commonwealth, first again among the states, has taken up the question of the suppression of tuberculosis. The truant officials, under present provisions of law, can take a child from the workshop as well as from the playground and put it in school, where it belongs.

Telephones and telegraphs have during the present year been placed under state supervision and control. Our volunteer militia now being reorganized under national law, is praised in the reports of the War Department as the best in the country.

We earnestly urge all Republicans, and all others who approve of the state and national administration, to vote for Curtis Guild, Jr., for governor, and Eben S. Draper for lieutenant governor, who are to be our candidates for re-election. It is our first duty to guard against the special attempts made to reduce their vote, and more especially it should be our duty because their faithful and efficient service deserves the fullest consideration and our earnest and heartfelt endorsement.

PORTSMOUTH.

[Regular Correspondence of the News.]

Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin Greene are entertaining their daughter, Mrs. William H. Allen, and her husband, Rev. Mr. Allen of Provincetown. Wednesday they were all guests of Mr. Isaac P. Greene and family of Providence.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Friends' Church had a social meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Macomber this week. They had as guests members of the Christian Endeavor Society of Fall River, who brought with them two musical instruments and an adult member, who gave an interesting talk. Refreshments were served and music, both vocal and instrumental, was one of the features of the evening.

Mrs. Benjamin Greene, the local president, Mrs. George R. Hicks and Mrs. George S. Sherman, delegates, and Mrs. Alonzo E. Borden, superintendent of the department of work among foreigners, who gave a paper on the subject, attended the Woman's Christian Temperance Union Convention this week in East Providence.

Mr. Adolphus Brownell has gone to New York to fill an engagement as pilot in New York harbor and on the Sound.

PERSONALS.

....An operation upon Edmond Rostand, the French poet and playwright, who has been ill for several months suffering from pelvic abscess, has been decided upon. It will be performed at Bayonne, shortly by Dr. Pozzi, a celebrated surgeon.

....John G. Carlisle stirred up all manner of comment yesterday by walking along Pennsylvania avenue wearing his old white stovepipe hat of the Cleveland era, which was formerly so familiar to Washington. "Who's that old codger?" and similar irreverent questions were frequent as Mr. Carlisle strolled through haunts where once he was better known. He is in the capital preparing the argument for West Virginia's $18,000,000 debt case between Virginia and West Virginia.

....Ambassador T—— has written to President Roosevelt, asking that he may be permitted to retire from the diplomatic service next spring. Mr. Tower's reasons are understood to be that, having been abroad for nearly 11 years, he desires again to live in his own country, in order to have a home there for his sons, who are now nearly ready to go to Harvard University, and to give his personal attention to his extensive financial, mining and railroad interests which have been left to the supervision of others during his long absence.

....Captain August Richter, known to thousands of American ocean travelers, has given up his command of North German Lloyd steamer Kronprinz Wilhelm and quit the sea forever, because, according to his friends, he was warned by heaven, through the medium of his ship's collision with an iceberg, to abandon seafaring. Captain Richter's retirement is similar in its details to the abandonment of seafaring by his brother Hermann, who, after a collision between his command, the Saale, and a wayward iceberg in a fog on the Grand Banks nearly 20 years ago, received what he called an admonition from heaven to give up the sea.

THE TREASURE TRAIL.

[The Bohemian.]

The bright torch of the sinking sun
Lights a gold-path across the sea.
Could I but track it to its end,
What treasures would not flash for me?

To low keys where old pirerooms,
Their plunder chests sunk in the sand,
The flaring lamp might guide my sails
And light me as I delved the strand.

The wide adventures of my dreams
Might come to pass, could I but be
The skipper of a bark—and know
No masters save the sun and sea!

Yet from the sunset trail I turn—
Its lure would lead me blind and old;
And, by the light in my love's eyes,
I seek what treasure a heart may hold!

THE CRUISE OF THE BATTLESHIPS.

It is true that the Pacific ocean is as much our ocean as the Atlantic. We have just as much right to have war vessels on our western as on our eastern seaboard. We already have them there. We could send several more there, one or two at a time, without exciting any remark; when we assemble all our biggest warships and send them around Cape Horn in a body it is sure to excite remark. Undoubtedly the purpose is to excite remark, but some of the remarks which are excited have not occurred to the administration.

Germany owns one part of her soil as much as any other part. That is so much of a truism that it seems trivial to say it. If Germany massed all her army along the Rhine, would France be pacified by the explanation that the German troops were on German soil and it was no other nation's business upon what part of her soil she massed her army? England has war vessels in the North sea; she has as much right to have them there as Germany has; as much right to have them there as she has to have them anywhere outside her own ports. But suppose she recalled her Mediterranean and Asiatic and other squadrons and massed all her fleet in the North sea, particularly if this happened just after Germans had been mobbed in Liverpool and the German papers were clamoring for satisfaction, would Germany or the world at large accept the explanation that England was simply putting her vessels through a practice cruise?

Whatever the Japanese think about it, there is a disposition in the foreign offices of European capitals to regard the battleship cruise as a menace to Japan, to which that country may submit or may not; recently European holders of our securities were cabling selling orders on account of the danger of war. Then, too, these foreign statesmen are suggesting that if some of our battleships should be lost on the way, or if the cruise developes defects and deficiencies, it might occur to Japan that if there must be trouble with us that was the most opportune time for it.

There isn't going to be war, but there are good and sufficient reasons not to play with fire.

IMMIGRATION TO GULF PORTS.

It is evident that Galveston and New Orleans will soon become important ports of entry for foreigners coming to this country for the first time. Long since New York lost to Boston some of its old-time monopoly as the landing place of immigrants and now the Southern coast cities and especially those along the Gulf of Mexico, are destined to take still more of the new comers from the metropolis and receive crowds of seekers after homes and work on the new continent and distribute them throughout the great Southwest, which is growing in population with marvelous rapidity. It is this wonderful development of that section which is diverting immigration to such a considerable extent from Northern ports to those in the extreme South, for the steamship companies have seen the great opportunities for traffic of this sort since the Southwest began to grow and to need new-comers to develop its immense resources, and are building up this immigrant travel which lands the strangers so much nearer their destination than lines running to Northern ports can do.

It is indeed a marvelous country, this great Southwest, which is opening its doors so wide and extending so warm a welcome to workers of all sorts and conditions, for it is a plain illustration of the fact that the desert may really be made to blossom like the rose. A few years ago this region was a barren waste on which not even cattle could be raised, while today those parts of it which have been reclaimed are producing crops beyond the power of man to handle with the poor facilities still at hand, and that is the reason why there is such a demand for workers. The resources are there, but the means of working them is lacking until the section is populated better. This wonderful transformation has come about through irrigation and as yet but a small part of the area has been touched by the wand of the magician, so that the future of the Southwest is assured and the prosperity of its settlers certain.

It is not strange that under such conditions part of the tide of immigration is setting toward the Gulf ports, for the inducements held out to new-comers are beyond those in any other part of the country and the steamship and railroad companies are alive to the opportunity and are pushing their claims for patronage with energy and eagerness. Galveston and New Orleans are already experiencing something of the conditions which prevail in immigration centres and soon will be receiving foreigners in much larger numbers. But the strangers will not tarry long in those cities, for any inclination to do so is overcome by the attractive openings offered to them to go out into the growing section just beyond and share in the prosperity which is coming to that region, where the opportunities for willing workers are many and alluring. Some of course may prefer the cities, but they will be few in view of the better things which are so near at hand outside the present centres of population.

How vast this Southwest is and what accommodations there are for hosts of immigrants can be seen from the fact that there are millions of acres of desert land there which can be developed by the irrigation process and made fertile and productive almost beyond imagination. When ten acres can be changed in two years from land upon which a single steer could not find sufficient pasturage into land capable of producing crops worth from $3,000 to $7,000, as has been done, something of the wonderful resources of this immense tract of land can be appreciated, and something, too, of the wealth and prosperity which will be found there by those who enter this promised land and settle on its broad acres. It is an ideal place for the production of garden crops for the winter markets of the North, and it will not be long before it will be sending immense quantities of these products to this part of the country every year. It promises, in fact, to be the winter garden of the North and there is no question that it will be able to supply all the demands which can be put upon it in this line, when it has had time to fully develop. It is consequently an ideal location for thousands of new-comers to our shores who are industrious by natural inclination and by habit and who come here to seek homes and work and are eager to find them. These are the kind of immigrants who are needed in this new section and the kind who are now pouring into the Gulf ports on their way thither.

GIRLS' IDEA OF FUN.

Girls are such stupid things! They haven't the least idea how to have a good time. Just at this season the Sophomore class in every college in the country is doing what it can, unknown to the faculty and the police, to make the Freshmen, who are a little homesick, as miserable as possible. But at Mt. Holyoke the Young Women's Christian Association gave a reception to the class of 1911. The Freshmen were provided with cards on which to write the names of their new acquaintances and were served with refreshments by members of the upper classes. The older students actually tried to make the Freshmen, or Freshwomen, feel happy and comfortable!

Amusement is usually at the expense of some one, and this is not confined to college Sophomores. Jests are generally derogatory to another person. A repartee is an insult so masked that the victim cannot resent it without making himself ridiculous, and thereby affording additional delight to the author of the repartee. All Fools' day and Hallowe'en are occasions when it is supposed to be more permissible than usual for young people to have a "good time," which consists in making others have a bad time. Almost any boy knows how much fun it is to tip over an old apple woman's tray; how many boys think it is fun to pick up her apples when the tray has been overturned by accident? It isn't funny to help people, it is funny to annoy and embarrass them.

All teasing, in which vice many adults are as happy as children, most of whom tease, is deriving pleasure from the annoyance of others. All hazing is the same thing in a little more violent form. So is torture; hazing is a sort of halfway amusement between teasing and torture. All these and the greater part of what passes for humor or jesting consists of annoying other people in a greater or less degree. Yet those stupid girls at Mt. Holyoke supposed they were having a good time in helping other people to have a good time! Well, what can we expect of girls, anyway?

TO BREAK THE SOLID SOUTH.

There are coming out of the West, during the President's trip, numerous rumors as to what Mr. Roosevelt may do regarding the nomination next year. To-day's report is to the effect that he may run again, to break the solid South. It is said in the despatches that "the President's visit to Memphis may very easily become the turning point in deciding the great question as to whether he will recant his declaration and run for President in 1908. So enthusiastic was his reception, so marked was the universal expression of esteem in which he is held, so hearty were the expressions of confidence in his character, that, reading the signs of the times with eyes of calm judgement, Southern politicians are declaring that should Roosevelt run again he would probably carry Tennessee. If anything could make Mr. Roosevelt change his mind it would be a reasonable prospect of carrying some of the states in the solid South."

September made another record for excavation on the Panama canal, the amount taken out during the month being 1,517,412 cubic yards, which not only exceeds all previous months but all estimates for a month. This record was made despite the fact that 11.9 inches of rain fell in September, a slight excess over August and nearly three inches more than in July. Reports recently received from various sources on the isthmus indicate the utmost harmony and co-operation in the canal force, and the notable showing for September is regarded as convincing evidence that not only is the organization nearly perfect, but every man employed is doing all in his power to promote the great work.

Another English novelist, Elinor Glyn, has arrived in this country to study "that class of Americans who accomplish things," and to select an American for the hero of a novel which she is preparing to write. She expects to remain in the United States six months and to explore the country from Maine to the Pacific, to learn "the why of America" and the source of American push and energy. She further says she does not contemplate writing about the "smart set" at all, but is more interested in America's public men and business men, "who accomplish such wonderful results.

The Bell telephone is no longer to be a monopoly. The announcement is made that the Western Electric Company, which manufacturers exclusively the apparatus used by the Bell companies will hereafter sell telephones and supplies to all buyers. Heretofore the Western company has refused to sell its instruments to independent companies, which have thus been at a great disadvantage in erecting competing lines. It is believed that the change of policy on the part of the Bell people will result in great benefit to the telephone-using public.

The state committees of both the Republican and Democratic parties in New York, with practically no opposition, have nominated for re-election as judges of the court of appeals, Willard Bartlett and Edward T. Bartlett, one a Democrat and the other a Republican. In the Republican committee meeting "Lou" Payne cast the only vote in opposition to the union ticket, saying he was "too good a Republican to vote for a Democrat." Benjamin B. Odell was absent.

President Roosevelt is no pessimist. In his speech at Cairo he commended a careful reading of Martin Chuzzlewit to the men who, instead of fighting hard to remove abuses while at the same time losing no jot of their buoyant hopefulness for the country, insist that all our people socially and industrially, in their private lives no less than as politicians, newspaper men and business men, are at a lower ebb than ever before.

Charlemagne Tower, the American ambassador to Germany, thinks eleven years in the diplomatic service is enough and asks to be relieved. He is the most experienced of all the American representatives in Europe, having been minister or ambassador longer than any other American diplomat.

The Massachusetts Republicans are unanimous in favor of the re-election of Governor Guild, but the Democrats are badly split by the Whitney-Bartlett contest.

Fitzgerald Wins in Pawtucket Caucuses, After Hard Fight.

The Allens Absent from the Adjourned East Greenwich Republican Primary.

The opposition which has been brewing in Pawtucket against the domination of the so-called "Fitzgerald wing" of the Democratic party culminated last evening in one of the warmest caucus fights which has taken place in that city for several years. The result was a complete victory for Mr. Fitzgerald, but the opposition showed surprising strength. When the balloting was over a war of words occurred, which would have been even more lively had it not been for the fact that a force of police was present, prepared for anything out of the usual. It has been known for some time that an element of the Fourth ward, in which the ex-mayor lives, was out to down him if such a thing were possible, and it was also known that Mr. Fitzgerald was making ready to put up the fight of his life. When it was all over, the ballots showed that he had won by a vote of 178 to 97. At the close of the balloting a wrangle occurred which lasted until nearly midnight, and charges and counter charges were made which showed the intense feeling which prevailed.

The Republicans of East Greenwich who oppose the return of Representative Samuel W. K. Allen to the next General Assembly and are against his resumption of his place in the state central committee held the caucus proceedings adjourned from last Friday evening last evening. They nominated their entire ticket without opposition, the Allen forces taking absolutely no part in the caucus. The reason for their absence was that after the adjournment was declared by Chairman John C. Tillinghast last week, on account of the lack of a checking list, the Allen forces held caucus proceedings of their own, which unanimously endorsed the Allen ticket. The caucuses in each instance were for the nomination of the General Assembly Republican ticket, for the selection of delegates to the state convention for the nomination of state officers, and the election of the Republican town committee. Which caucus proceedings will be recognized as the legal party primaries will be decided by the state convention. The selection of the regular Republican Assembly ticket from the two which will be presented is now up to Secretary of State Charles P. Bennett, or will be when the time comes for the making out of the official party ballots. Each side to the controversy is emphatic that its caucus was the only legal one. Incidentally the town has now two Republican town committees. Charles G. Hill was elected as a member of the state central committee at last night's session. Senator Stephen T. Arnold, Representative Allen's running mate last year on the Republican Assembly ticket, was last night nominated as the Republican party candidate for Senator by 206 votes, while Charles G. Hill was nominated by 210 ballots to replace Mr. Allen in the house of representatives. At the Allen caucus Emerson A. Gould was nominated by acclamation for state senator and S. W. K. Allen was nominated to succeed himself. Neither Samuel W. K. Allen nor his son, Thomas, was present at last night's caucus.

The Hingham Vet, of Hingham, Mass., took the first prize of $300 at the big hand engine muster at Brockton, Mass., yesterday, in a field of 40 engines, including 13 from Rhode Island. The Vet's play was 207 feet 2¼ inches, made under one of the most favorable conditions of the whole day. The famous old prize winner, Red Jacket, of Cambridge, took second prize, $225, on a play of 203 feet 1½ inches. The King Philip of Bristol, formerly the Washington of Peabody, Mass., where she won a long string of prizes, including more than 30 firsts, led the Rhode Island contingent, playing 197 feet 8½ inches, which took the third water prize of $175. The only other prize to go to Rhode Island was the tenth, $25, which fell to the Enterprise of Phillipsdale, whose play was 193 feet 7 inches. This made a total of $210 out of the $1,250 to go to Rhode Island. The first 11 machines played in a rain. This included two Rhode Island tubs, Narragansett of Riverside and Hydraulic of Bristol. These two machines, which played first and fourth, had the worst conditions of the day, the wind blowing directly against the head of the stream.

The work of exterminating the gypsy moth is being conducted more effectually and systematically in Rhode Island than in any other infested state, in the opinion of a government inspector, who has just completed an examination into the manner in which the pest is being looked after by the State Board of Agriculture. This report was made to the executive committee of the board at a meeting held to consider the gypsy moth question, and to take such steps as might seem necessary to further the progress of the extermination still more. Professor Stene informed the board that in the opinion of the government inspector another season of the same effective work so carried on during the past two years would see the state so virtually rid of the pest, or at least nearly so, that a comparatively small appropriation would be necessary to pursue the remnants of the colonies. The board voted an appropriation of $275 for the purchase of a powerful microscope to be used in looking for parasites working on the moth, and also a camera to be used in the gypsy moth work.

Lieutenant Charles F. Peckham, M. D., surgeon of the Rhode Island Naval Battalion, was yesterday appointed to the position of assistant surgeon general on the governor's general staff, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Lieutenant Colonel Lester S. Hill. The nomination was made by Brigadier General George H. Kenyon, surgeon general, and the appointment was approved by Governor Higgins. Dr. Peckham during the Spanish-American war was surgeon at Camp Dyer while the Rhode Island troops were being recruited there in 1898, and later in the same year served as surgeon in the navy, being assigned to duty on several recruiting ships. He is at present surgeon of the Rhode Island Naval Battalion, with the rank of lieutenant, which position he has held for about ten years, the date of his last election being January 9, 1906, for four years. This position Dr. Peckham, in the course of events, will be obliged to resign in order to accept the appointment on the general staff.

Three men in an automobile, one of whom gave his name as James Henry and his home as in Providence, were arrested by the East Providence police yesterday. According to the officers, the men were running the machine in a zigzag manner, and apparently were not able to control its movements. When first noticed the automobile was running along Grove avenue by the police station, and as it turned the corner into Taunton avenue it narrowly missed colliding with a telegraph pole. Noticing the manner in which the machine was being driven, which, while slow, was very erratic, the two officers at once went after it. They found the man who was driving it asleep across the wheel and his two companions laid away in the tonneau. The men were placed under arrest and taken back to the station. The automobile, which was registered in Rhode Island, bore the number 395. At a special session of the Seventh district court last evening James Henry was arraigned and pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness. He was fined $2 and costs, and after settling the fine was allowed to depart.

EMINENT PROXIES PRESENT GIFTS.

Old Bruton Church Receives New Lectern and Bible.

Bishops Satterlee and Ingram Act for President and King.

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Oct. 5.—With the Bishop of London preaching a sermon in Bruton parish church, the oldest church in point of continuous use of the Anglican communion in the United States, the services here today attending the presentation of a lectern from President Roosevelt and a Bible from King Edward were of peculiar historical interest.

The triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church, which is in session at Richmond, sent a deputation consisting of one clergyman and one layman from each of the thirteen original states, together with representatives of the diocese of Southern Virginia. During the afternoon a special train brought practically the entire membership of the convention. The Bishop of London and other distinguished visitors were given a great ovation upon their arrival, shortly before 11 o'clock.

After prayers the lectern was presented by Bishop Satterlee of the diocese of Washington, speaking for the President of the United States, and was received by Bishop Randolph of the diocese of Southern Virginia. The Bible was then presented by the Bishop of London, who conveyed a message to the American church from King Edward. It was received by Presiding Bishop Tuttle. An overflow meeting was held in the parish churchyard, which the Bishop of London addressed. The Bishop of Albany took part in the services.

At the afternoon services the program included addresses by Bishop Montgomery, secretary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel; the Bishop of Massachusetts and Rev. Dr. Randolph H. McKim of Washington, president of the House of Clerical and Lay Deputies.

KINDS OF COAL PRODUCED IN THE UNITED STATES.

The coal produced in the United States is reported to the United States Geological Survey as consisting of two classes—anthracite and bituminous. The bituminous product includes coal that may be classed as semianthracite, semibituminous, cannel, block, splint, and lignite or subbituminous.

In addition to the anthracite produced in Pennsylvania, 50,408 short tons were mined in Colorado in 1905, and 60,248 tons in 1906. New Mexico produced 24,415 short tons of anthracite in 1905 but reported none in 1906.

Semianthracite was reported from Pennsylvania, Colorado, Indian Territory, Virginia, Montana and Arkansas.

Bituminous coal was produced in 27 states and territories in 1905 and in 24 in 1906, and forms by far the largest part of the total production.

Semibituminous coal is mined in 17 states and territories, with West Virginia first, followed in order by Pennsylvania, Maryland, Illinois, Virginia and Montana.

Wyoming leads in the production of lignite or subbituminous coals, over 70 per cent of the production of the state being so classed. The so-called black lignites of the Rocky Mountain states are entirely distinct from the real lignites, or brown coals. They are not lignites in chemical composition, in color, or in physical characteristics, and as they lie between the lignites, or brown coals, and the true bituminous coals, the term subbituminous has been adopted by the United States Geological Survey to designate them. In the production of this variety of coal Wyoming leads. Colorado is second, and New Mexico is third. A part of the product of California and Oregon should also be included under this head. The principal producers of true lignite, or brown coal, are Texas and North Dakota.

The comparatively small production of cannel coal was obtained from 9 states in 1905 and 7 in 1906, of which Kentucky, Indiana and West Virginia are the principal ones. West Virginia is also credited with nearly all the splint coal production, while Indiana is the leading producer of block coal.

ICE BAGS MADE OF PAPER.

The expensiveness and the lack of durability of rubber water and ice bags has led to much countless research to discover an efficient substitute for rubber. It is now announced that the Japanese rice paper articles of the kind are a distinct advance in the technique of the care and comfort of the sick.

They are made of several layers of the soft, flexible rice paper used for many purposes in Japan, with resin between, finished on the outside with a coat of the famous Japanese lacquer. Some cushions thus made were exhibited by Professor Jacobsohn at the meeting of the Berlin Society of Medicine, demonstrating that the cushions were absolutely airtight, flexible, "featherweight," remarkably enduring, bearing a permanent weight of 150 kilogrammes, folding into extremely small compass when not in use, and costing less than a sixth of the corresponding rubber articles now in use.

HARD TO GET A QUARUM.

Democratic City Convention Selects Delegates to State Convention.

The Democrats held a city convention in the old State House last evening, for the purpose of selecting delegates to attend the state convention in Providence next Tuesday. There was so little interest in the event that it was with difficulty that a quorum was secured. Jeremiah P. Mahoney was chairman and J. Frank Albro secretary. The session was brief and the following was the list prepared:

Patrick J. Murphy, Peter Goelet Gerry, William P. Clarke, Patrick J. Boyle, Thomas Mumford, Patrick Buckley, Robert Sedgwick, J. P. Mahoney, J. J. M. Martin, Bartholomew Fogarty.

OFFICER DENMAN TO RETIRE.

Applies for Transfer from Active Roll of Police Force, After Thirty-Five Years of Service.

At the meeting of the Police Commission last evening Otto Max was appointed a special policeman. The application of A. L. Ash for transfer of his retail liquor license on Oak street to William L. Reynolds was ordered advertised. Permission was granted the Weenat Shassitt Association to display an advertising banner over Thames street, under the superision of the chief of police.

An application was received from Officer William P. Denman for transfer from the active to the retired roll of the police force, under the police retirement rules. Officer Denman joined the force April 2, 1872, and has seen more than 35 years' service. No action was taken on the application at the meeting, as the request is for retirement by the end of the year and there is plenty of time to act on it.

DEATH OF ELIJAH SHERMAN.

Mr. Elijah Sherman, who died in Wrentham, Mass., yesterday, was formerly a resident of Newport, being a son of the late John W. Sherman and a brother of the late William H. Sherman, for many years treasurer of the Savings Bank of Newport.

Mr. Sherman left Newport when a comparatively young man, was for many years employed on the Old Colony railroad as engineer, and later in charge of the repair shops at Boston, and for the past 15 years had led a retired life at his home in Wrentham. He was 81 years old. A sister, Mrs. Eudora S. Kelley, survives him. The body will be brought to Newport for interment in the family plot in the Island Cemetery.

He married a daughter of the late George Freeborn of this city, who died several years ago.

It was expected that the band would give a concert at Riverside before leaving, but by the time the band had had breakfast it was time to start for the Fair.

—The last race of the season by the boats of the Newport Yacht Club promises to make some sport. Instead of going over one of the usual courses, it is proposed to sail in the inner harbor from Brenton's Cove buoy by the clubhouse, giving the skippers practice in handling their boats in a narrow way. There will be many corners to turn, and things will have to be done just right. After the race there will be a chowder.

—The fishermen continue to bring in a variety of catch. Today W. E. Brightman's steamer had a sturgeon, a fish whose season is generally supposed to close in July. There were a few mackerel and all sorts of other fish, including sharks and skates. The buyers still have hope of mackerel coming in and one schooner, the Good Luck, a good-sized seiner, left here yesterday to follow up reports of big schools off No Man's Land.

GOVERNOR GUILD IS RE-NOMINATED.

nent chairman was listened to with the keenest attention. He was frequently interrupted with applause, especially when he denounced the Democratic city administration of Boston, and facetiously paraphrased Mayor Fitzgerald's "Bigger, Better and Busier" campaign slogan of two years ago to "Boom, Bluster and Brag." The Senator's view upon the proposed railroad merger and his declaration in favor of governmental supervision and control of public franchises were endorsed by the applause of the delegates.

The platform adopted is almost entirely devoted to state issues, about the only reference to national issues being a declaration in favor of the adoption by the next national Republican convention of a resolution calling for a special session of Congress to determine upon amendments to the present tariff law.

Both Governor Guild and Lieutenant Governor Draper received enthusiastic receptions when they appeared on the platform and made their formal speeches accepting the renominations. Lieutenant Governor Draper's remarks were very brief, and were confined to thanking the delegates for the honor they had conferred upon him. Governor Guild's address dwelt entirely upon the issues that would come before the next session of the state legislature.

When the delegates gathered at Symphony Hall today for the convention they found the state ticket which their organization will support for reelection this year already decided upon, from governor down, and with all the important routine matters, such as the selection of the platform, the report of the credentials committee and the appointment of a temporary chairman, already mapped out and waiting only their formal ratification.

Surprises or unexpected developments were not looked for, and early indications pointed to a meeting practically without feature, outside of the regular routine matters. It had been decided that United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge should succeed Colonel George H. Doty, who, as chairman of the state committee, was temporarily chairman of the convention. The platform this year was drawn up by Congressman William S. Greene of Fall River, and as it was supposed to follow out the principles of the Republican party, it was expected that its different planks would be retained intact without dissent.

At 10 o'clock, the hour the convention was to be called to order, there were not more than 150 delegates in their seats, though others were filing in slowly. The convention was called to order by Colonel George A. Doty of Waltham, chairman of the state Republican committee, at 10:27. Shortly before that time Colonel Doty, Senator W. Murray Crane, former governor J. Q. A. Brackett, former Speaker of the House Louis A. Frothingham and Congressman George P. Lawrence filed in and were loudly applauded.

Colonel Doty, chairman of the state committee, was chosen temporary chairman, and the convention proceeded to the appointment of committees. After the committees on credentials, resolutions and organization had been organized, upon motion from the floor, Colonel Doty announced that it would be necessary to vote on the committee on ballots.

The committee on credentials reported that the 321 towns and 33 cities were entitled to 1,772 delegates, and of these 931 were present. The remainder were expected to report, as delegates continued to file slowly into the hall.

On recommendation of the committee on organization, Senator Lodge was chosen permanent chairman, and was escorted to the platform and greeted with cheers. Senator Lodge, in prefacing his address to the convention, spoke disparagingly of the Democratic convention at Springfield. In acknowledging the ovation extended himself Senator Lodge said: "I can conceive of a convention whose applause would not be so valuable. I can also conceive of a convention whose over-night performance would lead one to suspect that they were hardly fitted to select a candidate for governor of Massachusetts."

The platform was adopted unanimously and the nominating speeches were begun. The convention voted that the speeches be limited to five minutes each and that there should be no seconding speeches.

Former Attorney General Herbert Parker of Lancaster, then arose and in a brief address re-nominated Curtis Guild, Jr., of Boston for Governor. Governor Guild was re-nominated by the convention by acclamation.

Congressman John W. Weeks of Newton then proposed for renomination of lieutenant governor Eben S. Draper of Hopedale. M. Draper was nominated by acclamation. He received a tremendous ovation from the delegates, and responded in a brief address.

Immediately after Mr. Draper's speech Hon. J. D. Long arose and renominated Secretary of State William M. Olin of Boston.

Congressman Walker of Brookline presented to the convention the name of Arthur B. Chapin of Holyoke, for renomination for state treasurer, and the nomination was made by acclamation.

Quickly following this, Henry E. Turner of Malden was unanimously nominated for auditor.

Dana Malone of Greenfield was renominated for attorney general by ex-Governor Bates, and the convention made the nomination unanimous.

A supplementary report of the committee on credentials, presented immediately after the nomination of Mr. Malone, showed that 1,202 delegates were present.

The convention then voted that the officers of the Republican state committee be empowered to fill all vacancies that occur on the state ticket.

Adjournment was taken at 12:46.

ENCORE AFTER ENCORE.

Unusual Enthusiasm Over the Performance of "The Earl and the Girl."

The musical play, "The Earl and the Girl," was given its first presentation in Newport at the Opera House last evening, attracting a large audience. The production was in accord with the many favorable comments given it in other cities, and the audience was enthusiastic to an unusual degree, encoring several of the musical hits until it seemed that they could never be satisfied, and the singers were apparently willing to grant the encores.

The company was a good one, Alexander Clark as Jim Cheese, a dog trainer, leading a number of first-class principals in the other characters and a well drilled and tuneful chorus. His topical song was one of the hits of the evening. There were other clever songs in the program, including "When the Right Little Girl Comes Along" by Mr. Couture, the Sporting Song by Miss Anderton, "Mediterranean Blue" by Mr. Lester, "I Want a Man Made to Order for Me" by Miss Bradstein, and "I Wonder Will You Always Call me Honey" by Mr. Couture and chorus. The scenic equipment and costuming were in keeping with the general excellence of the performance.

General Topic for Closing Sessions of Amherst Rural Conference.

AMHERST, Mass., Oct. 5.—There were but two meetings on the program today for the closing of the rural agricultural conference, which was begun here Wednesday as a formal observance of the fortieth anniversary of the Massachusetts Agricultural College. During the four days 11 meetings have been held, at which many speakers of prominence on rural and agricultural subjects have given their views to the large number of persons who attended.

There were but three addresses during the two sessions today, but each was of interest to the agriculturists and students of country life who had assembled to hear them.

At the morning meeting, at which Professor Frank A. Waugh of Amherst presided, "The New Agriculture in the Country School" was shown in an illustrated lecture, conducted by C. J. Kern. The only paper at this meeting was one delivered by Dr. K. C. Davis, dean of the New York State School of Agriculture, St. Lawrence University, Canton, N. Y., whose subject was "What Agricultural High Schools are Doing."

The closing session of the conference was held this afternoon, when two addresses were given. "The Problem of Industrial Education" was the topic of a paper prepared by Charles H. Morse, secretary of the Massachusetts commission on industrial education, and George H. Martin, secretary of the state board of education, told of "Some English Experiments in Agricultural Education."

HORSE CAUSED THREE DEATHS.

Because Lantern Was Kicked Over, 33 Animals Also Perished.

PLAINFIELD, Conn., Oct. 5.—William H. Appley was burned to death in a fire which destroyed a barn belonging to his sister, Mrs. George Moriarty, on the Ballou farm today, and 32 cows and one horse also perished. The fire started when the horse kicked over a lantern. The same horse a few weeks ago kicked to death Mrs. Moriarty's husband, and was the indirect cause of the death of her daughter, Fannie. The loss is $6,000.

NEW MAGNOLIA DESTROYED.

Fire in Large Summer Hotel Probably of Incendiary Origin.

MAGNOLIA, Mass., Oct. 5. The New Magnolia Hotel, one of the finest summer hotels at this resort, was destroyed by fire today, causing a loss of about $100,000. The hotel was a six-story wooden structure, located on Lexington avenue, near the water front. The hotel was closed for the season two weeks ago, and no one was in the building. Incendiarism is suspected.

When discovered the flames had gained great headway, starting in the centre of the hotel. Although both the Magnolia and Gloucester departments responded to alarms, nothing could be done to check the flames, but the direction succeeded in saving the Ocean Side Hotel and the North Shore Boat Club, near by, both of which buildings were badly scorched. The New Magnolia was owned by George H. Newell of Gloucester and others, and was insured for $75,000.

SUEVIC'S NEW BOW LAUNCHED.

Will Be Towed to Southampton, and Two Sections Connected.

BELFAST, Ireland, Oct. 5.—A remarkable launch occurred here today, when the new bow built for White Star line steamer Suevic to replace the one lost on Stag rock, near the Lizard, March 17 last, slid into the water. The Suevic, during a fog, ran on the rocks, and after vain attempts to refloat her the salvors cut away her fore part, refloated the rest of the ship, and towed it to Southampton, where it is now in dry dock and ready to receive the new bow. The latter, which is 200 feet long, considerably longer than the old bow—is fitted with deck houses, captain's bridge, mast, and so on. It will be towed to Southampton, where the two sections will be connected, not as two clean cut portions, but almost in the same shape as when they were separated, the jagged ends of the iron work, the bent pipes and splintered woodwork having been prepared for accurately joining the two portions of the steamer.

TO VISIT AMBASSADOR BRYCE.

Sir Anthony MacDonnell to Get Irish-American Ideas on Council Bill.

DUBLIN, Oct. 5.—Sir Antony Patrick MacDonnell, under secretary to the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, will leave here next week to visit James Bryce, British ambassador at Washington. Sir Antony and Mr. Bryce collaborated in the preparation of the Irish council bill, which was rejected by the Irish national convention, and the Irish university bill, which was dropped by the government. Sir Antony probably will seek to ascertain the views of leading Irish-Americans on the policy condemned by the convention.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 5.—A number of prize awards based on entrance examinations were announced at Yale University today, the Hare Chamberlain Greek prize, income from $1,000, going to Edwing R. Pulitzer of New York city, with honorable mention to Joel E. Fisher, Jr., of New York city and Bernard W. Schmidt of Natchez, Miss. The Samuel Berry Galpin Latin prize goes to Rodney Dent, of Orange, N. J. The Calendar scholarship, an academical prize to upperclassmen, goes to Henry Hollister Jackson, 1908, of Barre, Vt.

WESTWOOD BENEFITS BY WILL.

Late Howard Colburn Leaves Several Bequests to Massachusetts Town.

DEDHAM, Mass., Oct. 5. By the terms of the will of Howard Colburn of Westwood, filed in the probate court today, the Baptist Church Society of that town will receive $5,000. Among the other public bequests are $5,000 to the town of Westwood for cemetery purposes, and $2,000 to the Westwood Public Library, which was founded by Mr. Colburn, to be known as the Colburn Library Fund.

GAS EXPLOSION IN MINE.

Workmen Caught in Cave—In of Iron Plant at Pratt City, Ala.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 5.—An explosion of gas occurred in mine No. 7 of the Tennessee Coal & Iron Railway Company at Pratt City today, and a cave-in of the roof followed. Four miners, including the bank boss, were caught behind the cave-in, and are believed to be dead. A number of injured were taken out.

—The reported engagement of Miss Vanderbilt and her daily appearance in public with Count Szechenyi has attracted to Newport a large number of newspaper writers and photographers, who are keeping busy in both sunshine and rain. They are furnishing stories and pictures, but apparently do not require much in the way of facts to build on.

At the Brockton Fair horse show yesterday Mr. R. C. Vanderbilt's Dr. Schenck was awarded the championship for the best single harness horse, 15.2 hands and over. During the three days of the show Mr. Vanderbilt's horses won 20 ribbons. W. M. Moore was the largest individual winner, his horses taking 27 ribbons. Mr. Vanderbilt was second and Mrs. John Gordon third, with 25 ribbons.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY

Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, lose something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Caution, About the Use and Selection of Spectacles.

"Persons having normal vision will be able to read this print at a distance of 14 inches from the eyes, with ease and comfort; also will be able to read it with each eye separately. If unable to do so your eyes are defective and should have immediate attention. BOTH WHITNEY AND BARTLETT NAMED.

other issues, such as reciprocity and the tariff, must be set aside, in face of the question whether delegates to a state convention should be accorded fair treatment. After Mr. Whitney had concluded, a number of notaries public, who had been brought to the hotel, took the depositions of delegates who claimed either to have been refused tickets of admission to the hall or the privilege of exchanging credentials for admission tickets at the box office.

The state committee's action last night in selecting Bartlett officers for the convention was somewhat of a setback to the Whitney faction, but did not discourage them in their determination to push their ticket in spite of the handicap. The proceedings of the state committee were not finished until nearly 3 o'clock this morning. It was found that the committee was very closely divided, with the Bartlett side in a slight majority. Despite the protests of the Whitney members, the slate was pushed through after many roll calls, and the following officers of the convention were selected: Temporary chairman, Daniel J. Kiley of Boston; committee chairman, George Fred Williams of Dedham, on resolutions; Joseph E. O'Connell of Boston, on credentials; John P. Feeney of Woburn, on state committee at large; Charles H. Cole of Boston, on permanent organization, and W. T. McLaughlin of Worcester, on the balance of the state ticket.

Before the Whitney leaders sought their beds a long conference was held, the outcome of which was not disclosed, but it was said that an appeal would be made to Judge Loranus Hitchcock of the superior court, residing in Chicopee, for an injunction to prevent the use of the Bartlett faction of credentials which has been issued by the state committee to different persons as delegates from towns which held no caucuses. It was known that the Whitney leaders last night secured the refusal of a hall not far from the convention, and that they had asked the police authorities for protection for their delegates in the convention itself. It was also said today that former Congressman Joseph A. Corry of Boston would be elected temporary chairman, in spite of the Bartlett leaders.

The doors of the Court Square Theatre, where the convention was held, were opened to press representatives at 10 o'clock. There was a rush of those who had tickets to get in, and the doors were guarded by a strong force of patrolmen. The first thing discovered by the newspaper men was the fact that the first five rows of the chair orchestra seats were occupied by about 50 men, said to be Bartlett's supporters. The Whitney managers made some complaint because these men were admitted so early in the day, but Mr. Kiley said he would vouch for their credentials. E. F. McSweeney, a Whitney delegate from Boston was twice ejected by patrolmen while trying to enter the hall. At quarter-past ten the delegates were coming in slowly. The band was playing and a big crowd had gathered in the vicinity of the hall.

Another injunction report gained currency when it was rumored that the Whitney forces had applied to Chief Justice Knowlton of the supreme court of Massachusetts, who is said to be in this city today, for an injunction of some kind.

The weather was ideal. At 10:30 nearly 200 delegates were seated in the orchestra, and, judging from the badges they wore, not more than a dozen were Whitney men. It was said that the Whitney delegates would not be admitted until 11 o'clock, it was believed that there would be room on the orchestra floor for all the delegates, thus leaving the boxes for the procession and the balconies for the spectators.

Daniel J. Kiley secured a detail of police officers, who were brought into the theatre at 10:30 and stationed in front of the stage. Mr. Kiley instructed the sergeant in charge to allow no one to come from the auditorium to the stage without Mr. Kiley's authorization. Although the convention was scheduled to be opened at 11 o'clock, it was believed it would not be under way before noon.

As time passed, it began to look as if the Whitney delegates had decided to remain away from the convention. No announcement had been made up to 10:30 from the headquarters of Mr. Whitney, but the absence of delegates for the Boston candidate in the convention hall, as well as the attitude of the Bartlett speakers, was to indicate that the Whitney followers would meet separately.

Shortly before the hour scheduled for the convention to open, however, it became apparent that the Whitney men would attempt to gain full admittance to the theatre before making any attempt to hold a meeting elsewhere. Just before 11 o'clock the Whitney delegates assembled in Court square, and demanded admittance to the theatre. Soon after 11 o'clock about 50 of them had been admitted, and others were coming in slowly. In the rush to get in the Whitney men had sharp words with the patrolmen guarding the doors.

At 11:10 Chairman Feeney of the state committee called the convention to order. He was greeted with loud cheers. He immediately appointed Daniel J. Kiley temporary chairman. Prolonged cheers and the blowing of horns followed, and immediately the convention was in a turmoil.

In the midst of the disturbance, and before Mr. Kiley had taken the gavel, a motion to make ex-Congressman Joseph A. Corry chairman was offered, but the motion was not put. Ex-Congressman Corry, however, who occupied a box beside the stage, arose and attempted to ex-recise the prerogative of presiding officer. The confusion was so great, however, that the attempt was futile, and Mr. Corry left the box to go to the rear of the hall, toward which the Whitney delegates were crowding. On the way he came in contact with Congressman O'Connell, brother of Daniel O'Connell, one of the Bartlett managers. There was a clash, but police interference prevented anything serious.

The first business taken up by the Bartlett delegation was the appointment of committees, the first of which was that to draw up the balance of the state ticket. Mr. Kiley moved that seven members at large and one from each Congressional district be appointed to make up the committee, and this motion was carried by acclamation.

At this point Mr. Kiley shouted to the officers to keep order in the rear of the hall, where the Whitney men were assembled. This was greeted with three cheers for Whitney from the rear of the hall, which was immediately given.

The Bartlett convention declared a recess for an indefinite time, that the committees might get together and transact their business.

The Whitney men, who were gathered in the back of the hall, unanimously nominated Henry M. Whitney of Boston as Democratic candidate for governor, and then selected the balance of their ticket as follows: For lieutenant governor, George A. Schofield of Ipswich; secretary of state, C. E. Chaffee of Holyoke; auditor, Joseph A. Corry of Boston; treasurer, Arthur Lyman of Waltham; attorney general, Judge David F. O'Connell of Worcester.

Mr. Schofield announced that he could not accept the nomination for the second place on the ticket.

John A. Thayer of Worcester was then nominated for lieutenant governor by acclamation.

The state committee was authorized to fill the balance of the ticket, and a committee was sent to escort General Bartlett before the assembly.

These proceedings had taken place in the midst of the great disturbance both factions filling the hall with shouts and with cheers for their respective candidates.

As soon as the Whitney faction had completed the nomination of its ticket a number of the delegates withdrew, but the majority remained to cheer the name of Whitney and to answer any demonstration which the Bartlett contingent might make.

When the Bartlett convention came together again it was moved that the temporary organization be made permanent, and this motion was unanimously carried. During the whole proceedings Mr. Kiley made repeated appeals to the police to silence the Whitney men, and finally demanded that they be placed under arrest, but this demand was not complied with.

The committee on credentials of the Bartlett convention reported 700 out of 750 delegates present entitled to seats. George Fred Williams read a platform drawn up by him, and this was adopted by acclamation.

After the adoption of the platform Thomas W. Proctor of Boston placed in nomination General Charles W. Bartlett.

Before adjourning, the Whitney delegates adopted a platform condemning the Dingley tariff law and advocating reciprocity.

It was nearly three quarters of an hour after the committee had started to find General Bartlett before the candidate was conducted into the convention hall. The uproar had been almost continuous, but the force of Bartlett cheers predominated when the candidate appeared. The band played all sorts of tunes and the Bartlett men threw hats, newspapers and horns into the air as they cheered.

There was a momentary lull. Chairman Kiley attempted to introduce General Bartlett, but his words were drowned in a renewed outburst by Whitney delegates. The time passed slowly as Chairman Kiley stood waiting to be heard. General Bartlett took a seat behind the chairman.

Finally, when the din had continued until it seemed as if it would never cease, General Bartlett rose and, red in the face and with violent gestures, endeavored to speak. His voice was drowned in the shouts of his own supporters. Hardly a word was audible to even those who sat nearest the platform. Once only, in a slight cessation of the shouts, were the words "I accept the nomination" heard, and this but added to redouble the energies of the Bartlett men.

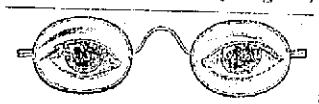

PULPIT HOURGLASSES.

[Dundee Advertiser.]

The 20 minute sermon is a purely modern invention, as is proved by the number of pulpit hourglasses that are still to be found in many old churches. In the register of St. Catherine's Aldgate, the following entry, dated 1564, occurs: "Paid for an hourglass that hanged by the pulpit, where the preacher doth make a sermont, that he may know how the hour passeth away, one shilling." A modern pulpit glass—probably the only one of its kind—is to be found in the Chapel Royal, Savoy. It is an 18 minute glass, and was placed in the chapel on its restoration in 1867.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5, Wall Street—The Stock market opened irregular, with Amalgamated Copper at 53¾, American Smelting 87½, Atchison 85½, Brooklyn Transit 46⅝, Erie 13⅜, Louisville & Nashville 104, Missouri, Kansas & Texas 32⅝, Northern Pacific 128, Pennsylvania 119⅝, Reading 94⅛, Rock Island 18, Southern Railway 12½, Southern Pacific 82, St. Paul 118, Union Pacific 127¾, United States Steel 26⅞, and United States Steel preferred 88⅝.

10—The tone of the opening market was irregular with a narrow range, some of the most active stocks selling at prices unchanged from last night. Dealings were on an insufficient scale. Southern Railway declined 1⅛, and Louisville and Brooklyn Transit about a point each.

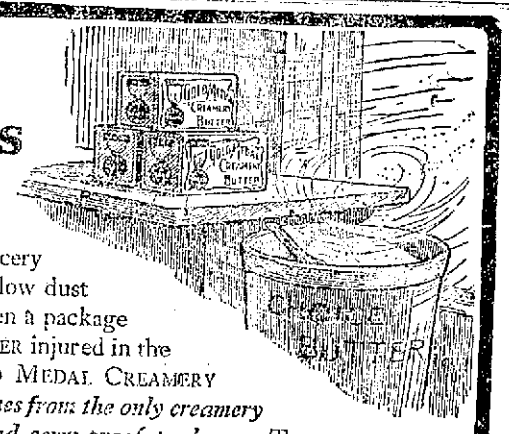

11—Trading continued light and fluctuations much restricted. A somewhat easier tone developed after the initial dealings, but the market stiffened afterwards to below last night's prices.

Closing—Money on call nominal, no loans; time loans quiet, but firm; prime mercantile paper, 7 per cent; sterling exchange, steady with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.85.80 @ $4.85.90 for demand and at $4.82.50 @ $4.82.40 for 60-day bills; commercial bills, $4.82 @ $4.82½; bar silver, 60; Mexican dollars, 47¼; government bonds, easy, railroad bonds, steady. The market closed easy and dull. After holding firm until the appearance of the bank statement, prices receded slightly. The rapid rate of decline in the cash holdings was not regarded as encouraging to the speculative outlook.

COULD NOT BE SPARED.

Admiral Mason to Continue as Chief of the Bureau of Ordnance Until Appointment Expires.

Rear Admiral Newton E. Mason, chief of the bureau of ordnance in the Navy Department, who had made a request that he be relieved as chief of that bureau and ordered to sea, will remain until the expiration of his present appointment, August 1, 1908. Rear Admiral Mason, who holds flag rank only temporarily by reason of his position as a bureau chief, was anxious to have at least a year of sea service before his final promotion to flag rank in the regular way, and to that end asked Secretary Metcalf to assign him to the command of a battleship. After a consideration of the request the department decided that the services of Rear Admiral Mason at the department could not be spared.

Admiral Mason was in command of the Torpedo Station from October 5, 1899, until September, 1902, when he was ordered to command cruiser Cincinnati. He was appointed chief of the bureau of ordnance August 1, 1904, being promoted to the rank of captain in September 1904. He is now 27 on the list of captains and will be retired from active service until October 14, 1912, when he will have reached the age of 62. He will reach the grade of rear admiral in the ordinary course of events in about two years.

NEW MILITARY COMPANY.

Varnum Continentals of East Greenwich Formed, With N. H. Brown as Captain.

East Greenwich, which for more than a century and a quarter has supported one of the oldest independent military companies in the State, the Kentish Guards, is now to have a second organization, to be established on similar lines. The split of a couple of years ago among the members of the venerable Guards, organized in 1774, and boasting the enrollment of General Nathanael Greene among its early members, is largely responsible for the starting of the new company.

Not inappropriately, the name of another Revolutionary celebrity, General James Mitchell Varnum, long a resident of East Greenwich, is honored by the new company, to which a charter has this week been granted by the state under the title "The Varnum Continentals, First Company American Continentals of Rhode Island.

A meeting of the company was held Thursday night to perfect the organization. The articles of incorporation were read, the names of William L. Sharpe, Nathaniel H. Brown, Howard V. Allen, Henry P. Eldredge, Jr., and George R. Hanaford appearing as incorporators. These five had previously met and elected to membership all who had signed the preliminary papers, making a total of 48 to be enrolled as charter members of the new organization. Official papers from the governor of the state granting the company permission to drill with arms and to carry arms in public were also read.

Last evening a constitution and by-laws were adopted and reports of committees were considered. The company voted to adopt for a uniform a reproduction of that worn by Rhode Island troops in the Revolution. This included a blue coat with white facings, white waistcoat and small clothes, high boots and three-cornered hat with rosette.

Officers for the ensuing year were chosen as follows: Captain, Nathaniel H. Brown; first lieutenant, William S. Sharpe; clerk, Howard V. Allen; treasurer, William A. Browning.

The new organization starts as a strong and energetic society, including many of the prominent younger business men of the town. Not only is it the first of its name in the state, but in New England, as well though a company now forming in Bridgeport, Conn., will be a close second. It is to be affiliated with a national organization whose headquarters are in New York.

As stated in its constitution, the objects of the society are "to perpetuate the memories, customs, uniforms and traditions of the American Revolution; to commemorate the events and heroes of that period, and thus and in other ways to encourage patriotism among the people."

The membership will be limited, probably to 60.

IN HONOR OF THE DUNCAN—KERNOCHAN ENGAGEMENT.

A luncheon was given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Louis L. Lorillard in honor of Mrs. James Lorillard Kernochan and Mr. Alexander Butler Duncan, whose engagement was announced last week. Mrs. Lorillard was unable, on account of illness, to act as hostess, and Mr. Lorillard presided as host.

Mrs. James P. Kernochan gave a large dinner last evening at her villa, "Sea View," at Ochre Point, in honor of her daughter-in-law's engagement. Mr. Barton Willing and Mrs. J. Low Harriman also gave dinners last evening.

SWARTHMORE COLLEGE TO HAVE FOOTBALL.

Million or no million, Swarthmore College will have a football team this year. The trustees have adopted a plan which will permit the team to play its schedule and yet not forfeit the bequest of coal lands supposed to be worth at least $1,000,000 left to the college by the late Miss Anna T. Jeanes of Philadelphia, on condition that the institution abandon all intercollegiate games.

A committee has been appointed to determine the value of the lands and will not report until after the football season is over. Then the fate of sports at the college in future years will be settled.

BRADY'S SUCCESSES.

William A. Brady is one of the most talked of theatrical managers in New York today. Starting a few years ago as an actor, he now controls the three greatest money-making attractions on the American stage. "Way Down East," which has swayed thousands, is now in its tenth year on the road and is rated as the most successful play ever produced on the American stage. "The Man of the Hour," however, bids fair to equal its success. It is now in its second year at the Savoy Theatre in New York and was the only play to run through the summer, when even in the hottest weather there was no let-up in the throngs which besieged the box office. Two other companies will play the same piece in the West during the coming season. Grace George, the young American star who set London in a furore last summer has returned to America and is meeting marked success in every city where she plays "Divorcons."

To this trio of successes Mr. Brady now adds "Happy Days," a new musical comedy which he is producing on an elaborate scale, with Al Leech, the popular comedian, in the leading role. With a strong company, a large chorus and a fine scenic embellishment "Happy Days" promises to be as great a success as any of Mr. Brady's other enterprises. After a brief tour of New England "Happy Days" will go to New York for a run.

REMOVAL OF OLD PLANING MILL.

A great change is impending in the West Broadway district. The old planing mill and the tall chimney, which have so long been part of the landscape, are to be sold and removed and the land is to be thrown open for settlement. The old mill, or that part in which the planing machines were located, was moved from Bull street in 1851, being then run by Gideon Lawton & Co. Since then numerous additions have been built and for a long time the mill did a big business, under the management of Smith Bosworth & Co.

In recent years the style of doing work has changed and mill work once done in Newport is now done nearer the places where the trees grow. For several years no work has been done at the old mill. The machinery has been removed and the place now holds little beyond the bare buildings and the big chimney. The removal of the old mill will make more change in that section than did the removal of the old Ellery house on upper Thames street.

MONEY BURNED.

There was a fire a few nights ago for which no alarm was pulled, and yet there was a heavy loss for a small blaze. It was in the home of the [illegible] at E. J. Berwind's and was due to a candle which had been taken [illegible] and left on a dressing table. On the table or in the drawer of the table there was between $300 and $400, which was to have been paid out, and after the fire had been extinguished by the engineer there was nothing but ashes. In addition to the loss of the money, considerable damage was done in the room.

MR. RICHARDS'S RECEPTION.

United Congregational Welcomes Pastor and His Bride.

Members and Friends of the Church and Guests Assemble to Give Greeting.

The guild hall of Trinity Church was last evening the scene of an enjoyable gathering of the congregation of the United Congregational Church, who had assembled to give a formal welcome to their pastor, Rev. James Austin Richards, and his wife, who have recently returned from their wedding trip. The Congregational Church, owing to the construction of its new church house, has no assembly room suitable for such an occasion, but in the emergency the vestry of Trinity offered its guild hall and the offer was accepted. The hall was very attractively decorated, with red hangings on the walls, rugs and tables on the floor, and a wealth of cut flowers and palms advantageously arranged about the room, the floral decorations being by Hass and Gibson Brothers. The Cotillon orchestra, Ralph Wood leader, occupied the stage, being screened from the hall by palms, and during the evening rendered a pleasing program of music, playing later for informal dancing.

Rev. and Mrs. Richards were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. A. Russell Manchester, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Easterbrooks, Mr. George A. Pritchard, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Langley and Mrs. John S. Coggeshall. During the evening fully 200 persons were presented by the ushers—Messrs. George H. Bryant, Fred M. Hammett and Roderick McLeod assisted by others of the church—this number including a large proportion of the members of the congregation, both young and old, and several guests. The other churches of the city were represented by Rev. Stanley C. Hughes of Trinity and Mrs. Hughes, Rev. George W. Quick, D. D., of the Second Baptist and Mrs. Quick Rev. Joseph Cooper of the First Methodist Episcopal and Mrs. Cooper, Rev. Ernest W. Burch of the Thames Street Methodist Episcopal and Mrs. Burch, Rev. Carl J. Nelson of the Swedish Methodist Episcopal and Rev. J. H. Wiley of the Mt. Olivet Baptist. There were also present as guests several members of the vestry of Trinity Church and their wives.

After the reception, which lasted for nearly two hours, refreshments were served, the tables at which coffee was served being presided over by Mrs. Fred. A. Arnold, Miss Sarah T. Hammett, Mrs. Harry A. Titus, Mrs. T. M. Seabury, Jr., and Miss Carrie T. Powell. The refreshments were served by the Woman's Association with an efficient corps of assistants, the whole affair being in the hands of a committee of the association of which Miss Martha Landers was chairman.

There was no formal speechmaking, but after refreshments had been served the assembly was called to order and Rev. Mr. Richards spoke briefly, thanking the people of his church for the many kindnesses which had been shown him during his two years' pastorate, and especially for the cordiality with which he and his wife had been received. He also in a feeling manner thanked the members of the church for the gift which had come on his return, in the form of pieces of gold, to which so many of the church had contributed; not that he valued the gift for its intrinsic worth but rather for the expression of cordiality and kindness which lay behind it.

From this point the reception assumed a more informal character and an hour or more was spent in renewing old and making new friendships among the people of the church and their guests.

THE BOOTH—ANDERSON WEDDING.

Miss Emma Adams, cousin of the bride, who acted as bridesmaid, wore a gown of white crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of white roses. Mr. John Booth, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

After the ceremony a supper was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Adams. Many handsome and useful presents were received. After a trip to Albany, Niagara Falls and Boston Mr. and Mrs. Booth will reside in Newport.

Home Wedding of Miss Julia Collins Simmons and Mr. James Robert Chase, 2d.

[Regular Correspondence of the News.]

A pretty home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Simmons on West Main road Wednesday evening, when their youngest daughter, Julia Collins Simmons, was married to James Robert Chase, 2d., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry I. Chase. The ceremony took place in the large room, the bay window decorations forming a bower of green and white, making an effective background.

The bride, gowned in white batiste, entered the room on the arm of her father, who gave her away. She was preceded by Miss Phoebe Coggeshall as bridesmaid, who wore lavender chiffon voile over white. The bride carried white pinks and the bridesmaid sweet peas.

At the alcove they were met by the groom and his best man, Mr. Alvin Simmons, brother of the bride. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Oscar F. Moore of Emmanuel Church, Newport, Rev. Allen Jacobs of Cambridge, recently rector of St. Mary's, being present as a guest.

After the ceremony there was a reception given and later the couple departed for their wedding trip, amid showers of rice and confetti and the good wishes of their relatives and friends. They will go to Boston and New Hampshire and will return to reside in their new home near the corner of Greene's lane and West Main road. They will be "at home" after December 1.

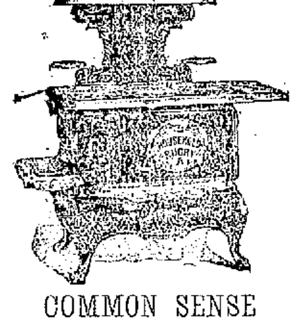

The room where the presents, which were many and beautiful, were exhibited was decorated with pink dahlias and green. The gifts included silver, china, and a sum of money. The wedding party consisted of the families and intimate friends only.

The desks for the new Witherbee school are being placed in position and it is hoped that school may be opened Monday, or within a few days thereafter. The school has been much delayed by the non-arrival of the desks, which were ordered in ample time. The heater has been put in within a few days.

Miss Sadie I. Peckham has been guest of her cousin, Mrs. G. H. Toldervind, in Newport, for a few days.

Mr. Ralph N. Hazard of the Rhode Island College is spending a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hazard.
